REVIEW OF THE WILMINGTON MARKET, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FEB. 18TH, 1858.

TURPENTINE-The market ruled steady at last week's figures up to Monday, when, with more favorable advices from abroad, a better feeling was manifest, and sales were made at 10 cents advance on all qualities. There is an active demand for both shippers and distillers, and it closes firm at $2 70 for virgin and yellow dip, and $1 70 for hard, $2 280 THE subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that | the arrivals for the week have been fair, and the sales

Rosin-On Saturday last there was considerable activity in the Common article, and owing mainly to the fact that most all on market is held by a few parties, an advance of in excess of the supply. At close, however, the trade was 10 a 12½ cents was obtained, with sales on that day at $1 10 characterized by a feeling (especially as regards Provisions) a $1 124; since, then, however, the market has ruled unsteady, and prices have declined. At the close buyers show no disposition to operate above $1 for large bbls., but hold-It is particularly recommended to those persons whose ers appear to be firm in asking higher figures; moderate constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use stock on market. Sale on Wednesday of 1,000 bbls. strained at $1 10 % bbl. The sales for the week are as follows:

Corron-Since our last the market has ruled quiet for this article, and rates are a shade lower. Some lots now offering sale, but buyers seem disposed to hold off, and are awaiting the arrival of the news by next steamer from Europe.—

The Cincinnati Price Current of 3d inst., has the following in relation to the Pork trade of that City :- " Under moderate receipts, and the influence of a buoyant Provision market, Hogs have advanced during the week, closing firm at $5 50 a $5 62\frac{1}{2} per 100 lb. net, with a demand considerably somewhat similar to that which preceded the reaction that took place a week ago. Prices are demanded which are above the limits of orders, and this tends to check the demand; but, on the other hand, there is not much stuff pressing, and holders are, therefore, somewhat confident. The receipts of Hogs for the week and the season were :-Total for the season, 423,483 Total number packed last season, 344,512 The number received to date is in excess of the packing of any previous year, with the exception of 1848, when the cutting reached 475,000 head. The indications now are,
